

Trishna Acharya

I would like to thank you for providing me membership scholarship.

This year I was also selected as the executive member of the Kathmandu Research Center, Association for Nepal and Himalayan Studies (ANHS). I participated in two days qualitative research training which was jointly organized by ANHS and Dignity Initiative. Utilizing qualitative research skills acquired from it, I have started doing research on “Significance of Intrapersonal communication: A qualitative study on Post conflict psychology of conflict victim journalist’s children” for my M.phil Degree at Tribhuvan University. It has helped me to understand research as well as developed connection with academician of different universities which enriched my understanding on various subject while participating its different program.

I would like to assure that this scholarship will be fully utilized and use to add value in different spheres of Nepalese academia.
